PART ONE: OVERVIEW

1.0 AUTHORIZATION

The contents of this Employee Handbook replace and supersede all previous versions of such handbooks for faculty and staff at WCJC. The Employee Handbook of Wharton County Junior College (also referenced as "WCJC" or "College") further provides employees with current information to aid them in their jobs. Similarly, this Handbook, in combination with the College regulations manual, constitutes a codification of policy, practices, procedures, and guidelines that replaces and supersedes all previous codifications of policies and procedures.

The policies and procedures set forth in this handbook are not a binding employment contract. This handbook provides general guidelines only and none of its provisions are binding or contractual in nature. This handbook is not a contract guaranteeing employment for any specific employment for any specific period of time. The policies, procedures, benefits, and working conditions outlined in this handbook will be applied at the discretion of WCJC. The College reserves the right to deviate from, change, or withdraw those policies, procedures, benefits, and working conditions at any time, for any reason, and without prior notice. The College will make every effort to notify employees when an official change in policy or procedure has been made, including but not limited to notification through internal communication channels. Employees are, however, responsible for knowing and understanding College policies and for staying informed about changes.

2.0 WCJC STATEMENT OF MISSION

[\[Ref: Reg. 001\]](#)

WCJC Mission Statement is included in its entirety College Regulation 001.

3.0 PURPOSE OF HANDBOOK

This handbook summarizes policies and procedures concerning the operations of the College, performance expectations for and evaluation of employees, and the rights and responsibilities of the members of the faculty and the staff of the College.

4.0 EMPLOYEE CLASSIFICATIONS

[\[Ref: Reg. 911\]](#)

The classification system for full-time employees recognizes two major divisions: faculty and staff. The latter grouping is divided into two categories: administrative staff and support staff.

5.0 COLLEGE ORGANIZATION

(See Figs. 1 for organizational chart)

5.1 Board of Trustees \(Fig. 3\)

The College is governed by a nine-member Board of Trustees elected in district-wide elections on an at-large basis for staggered six-year terms. The WCJC District consists of Wharton County in its entirety and Needville Independent School District in Fort Bend County. The district constitutes the area in which the College is authorized to levy taxes (on an ad-valorem property basis). The College's service area, which does not provide tax support to the College, is a much larger region in Fort Bend County and other surrounding counties (see Texas Education Code, Section 130.210). More detailed information regarding the College Board is found in the WCJC Regulations Manual under the following:

- 002 Board's Legal Status [\[Ref: Reg. 002\]](#)
- 003 Board Members [\[Ref: Reg. 003\]](#)
- 004 Internal Organization: Officers, Officials, & Committees [\[Ref: Reg. 004\]](#)
- 005 Board Members' Statement of Ethics [\[Ref: Reg. 005\]](#)
- 006 Board Policies and Bylaw Development [\[Ref: Reg. 006\]](#)
- 007 Board Meetings [\[Ref: Reg. 007\]](#)
- 008 Nepotism [\[Ref: Reg. 008\]](#)
- 009 President of the College [\[Ref: Reg. 009\]](#)

5.1.1 Policies

Policies are the directives of the Board of Trustees. Only the Board may establish, modify, change, grant exceptions to, abrogate, suspend, or negate a policy; and the board may do so at any time in its capacity as the institutions lawfully elected governing body. Therefore, all employees of the College, with no exception, are required to comply with College policy.

5.2 President

(See Figs. 1 and 4 for organizational charts)

The President of the College is the chief executive officer of the organization and reports directly to the Board of Trustees.

5.2.1 Procedures

Procedures are the directives of the President of the College. Only the President may establish, modify, change, grant exceptions to, abrogate, suspend, or negate a procedure; and the President may do so at any time in his/her capacity as the institution's lawfully appointed chief executive officer. Therefore, all employees of the College, with the exception of the President, are required to comply with College procedures.

Note: Appendix VIII contains Board's Policy 010, entitled Roles and Functions of the WCJC Board of Trustees, which provides a detailed description not only of board responsibilities and duties but of the President's responsibilities and duties as well.

5.3 Senior Administrative Officers

(See Figs. 1 and 2 for organizational charts)

Official position descriptions for all administrative officers, as well as for all full-time employees, are maintained in the Human Resources Department and are available for review.

6.0 GOVERNANCE

6.1 Faculty Constitution

In the spring of 1995, WCJC officially adopted a Constitution of the Faculty Association, which is included in its entirety in Appendix III of this handbook.

6.2 Support Staff Constitution

In the spring of 1995, WCJC officially adopted a Constitution of the Support Staff Association, which is included in its entirety in Appendix VI of this handbook.

Note: These two constitutions describe governance procedures within the faculty and support staff as separate constituencies at the College. Participation in college-wide governance for faculty and support staff (as well as administrative staff, who participates through their respective administrative units, rather than according to a separate constitutional structure) is described below.

6.3 Participatory Governance at WCJC

(See Fig. 4)

Faculty and staff governance is part of a larger system of participatory governance. This section outlines this broader internal governance system for WCJC, the purpose of which is to encourage the active involvement of all constituent groups (faculty, staff, and students) in conducting the affairs of the institution. The single most important principle in forming the construction and operation of governance at WCJC is the following:

All those affected by a decision are consulted or are provided ample opportunity to offer input, and their input is seriously considered by those who bear responsibility for the decision.

More specifically, the ends toward which the joint-governance system is aimed are increased communications among all constituents (so that they talk to each other, as well as with administrative super ordinates, to gain better appreciation of alternative perspectives); increased participation in decision making, goal setting, and determining institutional directions and emphasis; and, consequently, wiser policies, more efficient and customer-oriented procedures, further improvements in quality of instruction and services, a shared vision with common goals and aspirations, a stronger sense of community and an atmosphere of openness in which all may be assured of having a voice, and, most important, enhanced awareness and understanding.

6.3.1 Structure and Process

WCJC's internal governance structure has the following components:

President's Extended Cabinet

President's Cabinet

Administrative ("vertical") Councils:

President's Executive Council

Academic Affairs Council

Administrative Services Council

Student Services Council

Technology and Institutional Research Council

Categorical ("horizontal") Councils:

Faculty Council (drawn from the Faculty Association)

Student Government Association

Support Staff Council (drawn from the Support Staff Association)

6.3.2 Councils and Associations

Three associations' cross-cut the College; that is, they are formed from categories or classifications of persons rather than along functional lines: the Faculty Association, the Support Staff Association, and the Student Government Association. These three associations may be thought of as "horizontal organizations."

The members of these respective associations as categories have a number of concerns and issues in common, faculty as faculty and support staff as support staff share many concerns regardless of which department or office of the College they happen to work in; and students as students share many concerns regardless of their programs or majors or particular educational goals.

Each association elects a set of officers (president, vice president, secretary) and others who form a council, a representative group that serves as the coordinating or steering committee for the larger association.

Readers may review the structure and functions of these associations by perusing their respective constitutions. These organizations were suggested by the president; but they were defined and designed, along with the constitutions on which they are based, by their respective memberships. Only two requirements were placed on the architects of these associations when establishing their organizations: (a) that they truly represent their constituents; that is, they "speak with their voice"; and (b) that they are efficient; that they are responsive and timely.

The remaining five councils, which may be conceptualized as "vertical organizations," are designed to coincide with administrative/managerial functions; and each is chaired by a cabinet-level officer. The President's Executive Council is chaired by the President, the Academic Affairs Council is chaired by the Vice President of Instruction, the Administrative Services Council is chaired by the Vice President of Administrative Services, the Student Services Council is chaired by the Vice President of Student Services, and the Technology and Institutional Research Council is chaired by the Vice President of Technology and Institutional Research.

The membership of these four councils varies, but primarily the members are drawn from those persons with administrative assignments who report directly to the cabinet officer.

Their function is to represent the administrative staff and the perspectives and interests of their respective units.

6.3.3 President's Executive Cabinet

The President's Executive Cabinet consists of all vice presidents:

- President
- Vice President of Administrative Services
- Vice President of Instruction
- Vice President of Technology and Institutional Research
- Vice President of Student Services

This group serves as the chief executive body of the College and an advisory committee to the President. It meets bi-weekly, and virtually all matters of importance to the institution come through this group.

6.3.4 President's Cabinet

The President's Cabinet consists primarily of all persons who report directly to the President, the senior executive staff (vice presidents and deans), and certain directors:

President
(See Figs. 1 and 4 for organizational charts)

Vice President of Instruction
(See Figs. 1 and 2 for organizational charts)

Vice President of Administrative Services
(See Figs. 1 and 6 for organizational charts)

Vice President of Student Services
(See Figs. 1 and 8 for organizational charts)

Vice President of Technology and Institutional Research
(See Figs. 1 and 7 for organizational charts)

- Dean of Vocational Instruction
- Dean of Academic Instruction
- Dean of Financial and Business Services
- Dean of Planning and Institutional Effectiveness
- Director of Security
- Bay City Campus Specialist
- Director of Fort Bend Campus
- Director of Sugar Land Campuses
- Director of Human Resources
- Director of Communications and Marketing
- Athletic Director
- Director of Grants Management
- Director of College Transition

This group serves as the chief administrative body of the College and an advisory committee to the President. It meets bi-weekly to discuss matter of importance to the institution.

6.3.5 President's Extended Cabinet

This group, which meets monthly and consists of the President's Cabinet plus the five chief officers (i.e., president and vice president) of the other councils (faculty, support, students), is the final clearinghouse for major College decisions. It assures that at least once a month all constituent groups of the College faculty, staff, and students are represented at a meeting with the President and, significantly, with each other.

An example of how the extended cabinet system works is outlined below using Regulation 111, Establishing College Regulations. [Ref: Reg. 111]

A regulation states a College policy (what we do) as well as outlining the procedures and guidelines for implementing the policy (how we do it, who does it, and when). Anyone (Board member, faculty, staff, or student) may request or initiate the development of a regulation. The draft of the regulation is submitted to the President, who reviews them and discusses them in President's Cabinet prior to distribution. In some cases, the draft may be returned to the originator for revision before distribution. In rare instances, the President may decide that the proposed regulation is inappropriate or ill advised and will return it to the originator without further action.

The President's Cabinet reviews the regulation and advises the President on its need, utility, correctness, workability, etc. The President then sends a draft of the regulation to College faculty and staff.

How the draft regulation is handled, at this point, is left to each council; but the purpose is to solicit reactions, suggestions, and comments, etc.; from the constituents the councils represent. Each council then brings a written recommendation on behalf of its constituents to a meeting of the Extended Cabinet. The recommendations of all College groups are shared at the meeting. Through discussion, compromise, and debate, etc., at the meeting the draft regulation is revised as needed, with the President making the final decision on the regulation.

The regulation is placed on the agenda of the Board of Trustees. If the Board approves the policy, the regulation is promulgated and incorporated in the College's official regulations manual.

The case of regulation development serves as an illustration that incorporates both the intent of the proposed governance structure and how it works.

6.4 Institutional Governing Documents

The official regulations are located in the President's Office. Each regulation includes:

Type of Material	Repository
"Legal" policies (i.e., externally generated policies to which the College is subject)	The Policy Reference Manual , compiled and updated for WCJC by the Texas Association of School Boards
"Local" policies (i.e., policies approved by the Board of Trustees that govern the operation of the College)	The WCJC Board Policy and Operating Manual , compiled and maintained by the Office of the President
"Local" policies plus the administrative procedures and guidelines for implementing these policies	The WCJC Regulations Manual compiled and maintained by the Office of the President

Local policies, contained in the WCJC Board Policy and Operating Manual are distinguished from state policies (known as "legal" policies) and do not affect in any way the "legal" policies to which the College is subject and which are compiled and updated for the College by the Texas Association of Community Colleges (with the cooperation of the Texas Association of School Boards or TASB).

The WCJC Regulations Manual (or Regulations Manual, for short), contains the set of institutional governing documents. The Regulations Manual is an administrative tool. That is, the WCJC Board Policy and Operating Manual normally contain only policy statements; but the Regulations Manual contains board-approved College policies and the procedures and guidelines for implementing those policies since implementation of board policy is an administrative responsibility. The numbers assigned to College regulations are the same as those assigned to the corresponding board policies (for example, Board Policy 276 is the authorizing policy for Regulation 276 on copyright privileges).

7.0 DESCRIPTION OF COMMITTEES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

Members of the College are organized into standing committees for the purpose of researching and hearing problems, recommending policies, and engaging in educational planning. Three classes of committees are distinguished according to committee membership:

College-Wide Committees: committees whose membership consists of representatives of all constituencies of the College (faculty, administrators, support staff, and students).

Joint Committees: committees whose membership consists of representatives from at least two of the constituent groups of the College.

Academic Affairs Committees: committees established by the Vice President of Instruction and whose membership consists of faculty and administrators in the academic affairs area.

Members of the faculty serve on all these committees. Copies of minutes of all committee meetings must be sent to the Web Review Group for posting on the Employee Intranet.

8.0 COMMITTEE COMPOSITION

Committee Assignments are distributed at the beginning of each academic school year. This information is available through this hyperlink to the WCJC Intranet: Committee Composition (Employee Intranet Access Only).

PART TWO: FACULTY RESPONSIBILITIES, RECRUITMENT, AND ETHICS

9.0 STATEMENT ON ACADEMIC FREEDOM

[\[Ref.: Reg. 131\]](#)

WCJC's Statement on Academic Freedom is found in its entirety in College Regulation 131. To emphasize its commitment to academic freedom, WCJC adopted the following statement:

Academic Freedom and Responsibilities

American institutions of higher education have long been considered as bastions of freedom. As such, these institutions have been conducted under the premise that it is essential to promote the free search for truth and the concomitant free expression.

It is essential to this philosophy that a faculty member of WCJC is free to pursue scholarly inquiry without undue restriction and to voice and publish his or her conclusions concerning the significance of evidence he or she considers relevant. He or she must be free from the corrosive fear that the community may do irreparable damage to his or her professional career because his or her scholarly conclusions differ from the standard view.

Each faculty member of the WCJC District is entitled to full freedom in the classroom in discussing the subject which he or she teaches. Each faculty member is also a citizen of his or her nation, state, and community, and when he or she speaks, writes, or acts as such, must be free from institutional censorship or discipline.

The concept of academic freedom in the WCJC District is accompanied by an equally demanding concept of faculty responsibility as follows:

- The fundamental responsibility of a faculty member as an instructor and a scholar includes maintenance and exhibition of competence in his or her field of specialization.
- The exercise of professional integrity by the faculty member includes the realization that the community will judge his or her profession and the WCJC District by his or her statements. Therefore, he or she should strive to be accurate in all statements, to exercise appropriate restraint, to show respect for the opinions of others, and to avoid creating the impression that he or she speaks or acts for the WCJC District when he or she acts as a private citizen.
- A faculty member should be judicious in the use of controversial material in the classroom and should introduce such material only as it has relationship to the subject he or she has been assigned to teach. It is an instructor's mastery of his or her subject and his or her own scholarship which entitle him or her to a classroom and to freedom in the presentation of his or her subject. It is improper for an instructor persistently to use material in the classroom which has no relationship to the subject.
- The faculty member should be free to participate in professional organizations.
- The faculty member should not, during the contractual period, undertake for pay extensive activities outside his or her instructional assignments that would interfere with the fulfillment of the tasks assigned him or her by the institution. He or she should not exploit his or her position with the institution to secure outside income or favor in competition with non-academic colleagues.
- Because academic freedom has traditionally included the instructor's full freedom as a citizen, most faculty members face no insoluble conflicts between the claims of politics, social action, and conscience, on the one hand, and the claims and expectations of their students, colleagues, and institution on the other. If such conflicts become acute, and the instructor's attention to his or her obligations as a citizen and moral agent precludes the fulfillment of substantial academic obligations, he or she cannot escape the responsibility of that choice, but should either request a leave of absence or resign his or her academic position.

10.0 ROLES OF THE FACULTY

In general, faculty are responsible for designing the curriculum; developing academic programs; implementing and monitoring the curriculum policies and programs approved by the Board; defining the conduct of students; reviewing and making recommendations for the academic calendar; certifying the eligibility of students for degrees; recommending probation, suspension, or dismissal of students from the College for academic reasons; evaluating library and other support materials in their respective disciplines; developing procedures to assess and improve their respective disciplines; and performing other assigned tasks.

The faculty have primary responsibility for such areas as subject matter and methods of instruction, evaluation of student performance, requirements for degrees offered, determination that degree requirements have been met, and those aspects of student life that relate to the educational process. On these matters, the power of review or final decision is lodged in the Board of Trustees or delegated by it to the President of the College.

Faculty judgment is central to general educational policy regarding responsibilities and status of faculty. Scholars in a particular field are most competent to judge the work of their colleagues. Final determinations in faculty personnel matters, however, are made by the Board of Trustees upon the recommendation of the Vice President of Instruction and the President of the College.

11.0 OVERVIEW OF DUTIES AND RESPONSIBILITIES

11.1 General Responsibilities

The faculty member is responsible for providing the most effective instruction possible in his or her discipline. Guidance is received from the department head, who reports to the division chair, who in turn reports to the dean (as appropriate) and the Vice President of Instruction. Each faculty member insures that his or her instruction is meeting the educational needs of students.

Administrative Duties:

Keep accurate records of student attendance and evaluations.

Supervise assigned student employees.

Assist assigned student groups in the planning and managing of student activities.

Make arrangements, approved in writing by the appropriate supervisor, for covering classes when scheduling an absence.

Maintain current knowledge of careers related to teaching field and of transfer issues (both in one's field and in general).

Assume responsibility for the physical condition of assigned office and classrooms and report needs to the building supervisor.

Provide grade reports to the Director of Admissions and Registration/Registrar.

Faculty Development Obligations:

Maintain oneself as a competent scholar in the teaching field/fields.

Design and implement a plan for professional development to improve instructional abilities.

Participate in professional activities related to discipline.

Comply with professional development and instructional assessment policies.

Maintain currency in pedagogy.

Instructional Responsibilities:

Instruct students in courses assigned, following the official master syllabi and using approved textbooks.

Meet all classes regularly and promptly as scheduled and for the full duration of each class period.

Participate in the department's three year review of all course offerings.

Upgrade the educational program by evaluating course content, student needs, and instructional methods and making recommendations for improvement.

Assist in the preparation of course syllabi.

Evaluate support materials available to students in the WCJC libraries and make recommendations for improving collections.

Teach assigned courses at time, locations, and in classrooms as assigned.

Prepare, organize, and deliver course material in an effective manner.

Provide course outlines (hard copy or electronic version) to students and to appropriate supervisor.

Teach online courses as assigned.

Other Professional Duties:

Adhere to policies published in the Regulations Manual.

Follow college policies regarding work schedule, office hours, etc., published in the Instructor Procedure Manual, Regulations Manual, Employment Agreement, and other official college documents.

Participate in assigned committee work.

Attend faculty meetings and commencement exercises as appropriate.

Perform assigned advising, registration, and recruiting duties.

Review and make recommendations for the improvement of the educational program, the college's learning environment, and related services.

Familiarize oneself with the purpose of the college and with college policies and procedures.

Assume special responsibilities or assignments from supervisors.

Review the Student Handbook and become familiar with its contents.

Report absences to the appropriate supervisor.

Demonstrate commitment to the profession and students.

Provide professional and/or nonprofessional services (national, regional, local) as appropriate.

11.2 Relationship of Performance Review and Employment

11.2.1 Faculty members are employed by the College on term contracts.

At the sole discretion of the College, faculty members may be offered a new employment contract before their current contracts expire (known as contract "extension") or at the end of the current contracts (known as contract "renewal"); and both options constitute actions; that is, they must be explicitly acted upon by the President of the College and the Board of Trustees.

11.2.2 Contract Renewal

Also at the sole discretion of the College, faculty members' contracts may be allowed to expire without a new contract or additional employment being offered; and the College makes no promise or guarantee of employment to any contractual employee beyond the expiration date of the employee's current contract. Contract "renewals" or "extensions" (as defined above) are actually offers of new employment under a new contract, not a continuation of current employment; and the College is under no obligation to re-employ anyone. Accordingly, no employee should develop an expectation for employment beyond the expiration date of the current contract. "Non-extension" of an employment contract and "nonrenewal" of employment occur automatically unless the College, in its sole discretion, decides to intervene and offer an employee a new employment contract. Therefore, unlike "extension" and "renewal," which are action items, "non-extension" and "nonrenewal" require no action on the College's part except that, in the case of "nonrenewal," the College must notify the employee of its intent not to renew employment by April 1 of the year in which the employee's contract expires [Regulation 887].

11.2.2.1 The College's Standard Term Contract

The College's standard term contract, signed by all full-time faculty, contains the following statements:

The Board has not adopted any policy, rule, regulation, law, or practice providing for tenure. No right of tenure or any other contractual obligation or other expectancy of continued employment or claim on entitlement is created beyond the Contract term.

I have read this Contract and agree to abide by its terms and conditions. I understand that the duration of this Contract is only for the time specified above, and this agreement does not create any expectation of employment beyond the time specified above.

11.2.3 Non-extension or Nonrenewal

Since the College may choose not to act to renew an employment contract for no reason or for any reason, so long as the reason is not illegal or unconstitutional (Regulation 886, Section III.G; Regulation 887, Section II.A; Regulation 892, Section III.B.1.a), the decision not to offer further employment need not be related to the results of a faculty member's performance review; that is, though an unsatisfactory performance review may result in "non-extension" or "nonrenewal," a satisfactory performance review does not automatically guarantee that an employee will be extended or renewed though, typically, re-employment normally follows a satisfactory evaluation if other factors (such as program discontinuance and financial exigency, as described in the College's governing documents) are not present. (In other words, no necessary connection exists between performance reviews and future employment. While satisfactory reviews are a necessary condition for additional employment, they are not a sufficient condition for additional employment.)

12.0 RECRUITMENT AND SELECTION OF FULL-TIME FACULTY

The following regulations contain personnel policies and procedures relevant to faculty:

Regulation 821, Recruitment and Appointment of Full-Time Personnel, describes responsibilities and procedures for recruiting, selecting, and appointing full-time personnel (faculty, administrative staff, and support staff).

Regulation 827, Recruitment Advertising and Posting of Vacancies, establishes procedures for advertising and posting position vacancies.

Regulation 838, Equation of Experience for Faculty and Administrative Staff, provides procedures for evaluating past related experience of faculty and administrative staff and equating that experience with comparable years of experience at WCJC in order to place employees at appropriate locations on the College's approved salary schedules.

Regulation 872, Evaluation of Faculty, contains information on assessment of faculty performance (which is also reproduced in Appendix I). Please note that, during 1996-97, the following credentials were recommended by the Faculty Association and approved by the President and the Board of Trustees as qualifying for salary increments:

Master's Degree in Special Education
Special Education Counselor
English as a Second Language Certification
Developmental/Remedial Education Specialist
Advanced Developmental/Remedial Education Specialist
Certified Novell Engineer
Certified Novell Instructor
Certified Public Accountant
Certified Professional Secretary
Certified Records Manager
Professional Licensure in Psychology
Automotive Service Excellence (ASE) Master Certification Technologist
Master of Fine Arts (terminal degree)
Master of Dental Hygiene (terminal degree)
Certified Wildlife Biologist

[Note: The Juris Doctor (J.D.) degree is not a terminal degree in law and, therefore, is not recognized by WCJC as constituting a terminal degree for purpose of salary placement. Those faculty members who were hired prior to 1998 with the understanding that their J.D. degrees would be treated as terminal degrees will have such agreements honored by the College.]

Regulation 875, Remediation of Performance, provides a process for investigating suspected major weaknesses in the performance of contract employees and outlines procedures for remediation.

Regulation 877, Employee Grievances and Complaints, explains the availability of procedures for College employees to remedy grievances and address complaints.

Regulation 886, Reprimand, Suspension, and Dismissal of Contract Employees, describes policy and procedures for disciplinary action of contract employees.

Regulation 887, Nonrenewal, Termination, and Dismissal.

For the first three years of service, faculty, if renewed, are employed on one-year term contracts. After three years of service, faculty are eligible for two-year contracts. The administration reviews contracts annually for renewal or extension and notifies of intent to recommend action concerning renewal of contracts by April 1 of the final year of the contract. Regulation 887 also contains information concerning dismissal of faculty for financial exigency and for discontinuance of educational programs.

13.0 FACULTY WORKLOADS AND COMPENSATION

[Ref. Reg. 465]

All full-time faculty are expected to work a minimum of 40 hours per week. Faculty workloads and compensation can be found in its entirety in College Regulation 465.

14.0 CODE OF ETHICS

We, the administration and faculty of WCJC, acknowledge in the following professional code, that we have ethical obligations:

To the institution we represent:

It is our obligation at all times to give every consideration to the stated objectives and policies of WCJC.

To the student:

Realizing that the college exists primarily for the development of the student, we assume the obligation to contribute to the educational development of each one with whom we are in contact. In carrying out this moral obligation to the student, we should treat each one with respect, courtesy, and fairness, whether dealing with him/her directly or commenting about him/her to others.

Should the occasion arise within the community to discuss the college, a student, or several students, we are bound by the same ethical and legal obligations that apply when we are working within the college.

To the faculty and administration:

When differences of opinion arise, whether these differences arise between faculty members or between faculty members and administrative officials, the individuals concerned should discuss them with straightforward courtesy. The details of such discussion should be confidential, unless everyone concerned agrees they need not be. Any agreements reached should be binding.

To the community:

Within reason, we should give of our time and talents to activities of our choice which aim at the betterment of the community.

We should give respectful consideration to the views of people in the community concerning educational matters.

In return for the freedom to discharge the obligations of citizenship in the community, we should carry out these duties as citizens.

To the teaching profession:

We should recognize that teaching is a profession worthy of respect.

We should keep in mind at all times that sound professional relationships are built upon personal integrity, dignity, mutual respect, and loyalty to one another.

We should participate in professional organizations and keep abreast of new developments both in our own fields and in the field of education in general.

We should strive continually to improve our teaching.

15.0 PART-TIME FACULTY

Each of the seven division chairs maintains an informal file of qualified part-time faculty members whose credentials have been reviewed by the appropriate department head. (Official applicant and employment files are kept in the Human Resources Department.) The division chair or department head (with approval from the division chair) assigns classes to these part-time instructors as the need arises.

Part-time instructors are required to have the same minimum professional and scholarly qualifications demanded of their full-time counterparts. They also must submit to the same type of supervisory and student evaluations.

To keep the pool of part-time faculty current, the College advertises in area media as well as on electronic sites from time to time. The credentials of applicants are reviewed by the appropriate department head and division chair, and the division chairs are responsible for insuring that all paperwork is complete and on file in the Human Resources Department. The criteria applied to their credentials are the same as those applied to those of an applicant for a full-time position. Those who are qualified are added to the part-time faculty pool.

Note: See [Regulation 823, Recruitment and Appointment of Part-Time Faculty.]

15.1 Compensation

The compensation for part-time semester-credit hour faculty may be found in Regulation 461.

15.2 Orientation and Supervision

Division chairs and department heads are responsible for the orientation and supervision of part-time faculty. They insure that each part-time faculty member in their division/department has appropriate course syllabi, and appropriate textbooks.

15.3 Workload of Part-Time Faculty

Typically, part-time faculty will teach no more than three sections per full semester; however, at the discretion of the Vice President of Instruction, part-time faculty may be allowed to teach up to four sections. Likewise, part-time faculty compensated on an hourly basis will work no more than 19 contact hours per week unless otherwise approved by the Vice President of Instruction.

It should be made clear to the selected candidate that the intent-to-employ and the proposed terms do not constitute a commitment until approval is obtained from the President of the College. The letter of intent also makes clear that the President will make a recommendation to employ the applicant to the Board of Trustees but that board action is required for contract appointments to be finalized.

During the first two days of employment, the new full-time employee meets with the Human Resources Department, the Office of Payroll and Benefits, and a member of the Technology Department for New Employee Orientation. 32.0 RETIREMENT PROGRAMS

Texas law requires that all full-time employees of WCJC become members of either the Texas Teacher Retirement System (TRS) or a college-approved optional retirement program (ORP).

Administrative, faculty, and professional staff have the option to choose membership in TRS or an approved ORP. Support staff participates only in TRS.

A state-approved percentage of the salary is deducted from each employee's earnings for either the Texas Teacher Retirement System or an approved ORP. Employee contribution is 7.7% of gross pay to the TRS or 6.65% of gross pay to ORP.

The Texas Teacher Retirement System provides a retirement plan, disability, death and survivor benefits, and allows for options to be taken at the time of retirement. Additional information may be obtained in the Office of Payroll and Benefits.

Optional retirement plans are available during the first 90 days of employment in an eligible position with an institution of higher education; after that time, the option is no longer available. The decision to enter optional retirement is irrevocable.

The current salary schedule for WCJC staff is maintained by the Office of Payroll and Benefits and is available to anyone desiring a copy. This information is also available on the WCJC website at <http://www.wcjc.edu/About-Us/administration/offices/human-resources/salary-schedules.aspx>

35.3 Maximum Accumulated Sick Leave

For all full-time employees, the maximum sick leave that can be accumulated is sixty (60) workdays. Consecutive days of sick leave taken may not exceed ninety (90) days (sixty consecutive workdays plus holidays, weekends, and vacations). If the employee will exceed the ninety calendar days allowed, he/she may request to be placed on long-term disability. The request must be made as early as possible before the ninety-day period has lapsed.

35.4 Reporting Absence to Supervisor and the Office of Payroll and Benefits

Employees must report absence due to illness to the supervisor, who relays the information to the Office of Payroll and Benefits. (Faculty members must report absence due to illness to the department head and division chair, which relays the information to the office of the Vice President of Instruction and to the Office of Payroll and Benefits.)

35.5 Request for Physician's Statement

Normally, a doctor's statement is not required unless the employee is absent for more than five (5) consecutive workdays, but the College reserves the right to request a physician's statement at any time. When an employee does not present a physician's statement if requested, the absence is considered an unapproved absence and the employee's salary is adjusted. Sick leave is not granted after the last day of employment.

35.6 Emergency Sick Leave

Sick leave may be used for emergencies in the immediate family of the employee or of the employee's spouse, i.e., spouse, child, parent, brother, or sister. One day of sick leave is charged for each day of absence.

35.7 Absence Due to Pregnancy

Absence due to one's pregnancy is treated in the same manner as absence due to sickness. Sick leave continues only as long as a medical doctor certifies that the physical disability exists.

35.8 Retention of Sick Leave for Re-employed Employee

If a contract employee resigns and is re-employed by the College within two years, he/she retains the sick leave days accumulated prior to his or her resignation.

36.0 SOCIAL SECURITY

Social Security coverage is mandatory for all full-time employees of the College. Salary deductions are made each pay period in accordance with Social Security law, and an equal amount is provided from College funds. 37.0 SUBSTITUTE PAY

[\[Ref.: Reg. 855\]](#)

When a full-time instructor must be absent for a period of time not exceeding a week, his or her colleagues substitute without compensation. When a colleague substitutes in a given class in excess of a week, the substituting colleague is compensated for the extra class meetings at the prorated part time faculty compensation.

(Dependent children refer to those children who receive more than half of their support from the employee and live in the employee's household.)

40.0 UNEMPLOYMENT COMPENSATION

The College pays into an unemployment fund with the Texas Workforce Commission on a reimbursement basis in compliance with a Texas law that provides, under certain conditions, that weekly payments be made to individuals who become unemployed through no fault of their own. These payments are made for a stipulated period while the individual is looking for work.

41.0 VACATIONS

Only full-time employees working 40-hour work weeks during a twelve-month period shall be entitled to paid vacation. Only one day of vacation (i.e., 8 hours) is accrued per month, but vacation privileges for the current year are available as of September 1 or on date of hire. Vacations may be taken only upon the advanced approval of the employee's supervisor and must be completed by August 31 of each year. After this date, any unused vacation time for the current year will be forfeited.

Accrued vacation time shall be paid if the employee resigns or is terminated. If an employee uses vacation time before it is accrued, and then resigns or is terminated, an adjustment will be made to his/her paycheck to recover any wages paid for unearned vacation time. The President of the College shall have the discretion, on a case-by-case basis, to extend the time during which vacation can be carried forward and used, or to authorize payment for unused accrued vacation.

42.0 WORKERS' COMPENSATION

The College pays the entire cost of workers' compensation insurance premiums for all employees. This insurance covers medical treatment expenses and provides compensation for lost earnings when an employee is injured in a job-related accident.

All accidents in the workplace and resulting injuries must be reported in writing to the supervisor and to the Director of Payroll and Benefits, regardless of whether treatment is sought or not. If the injury requires medical treatment, the employee should seek it immediately. In order to process a claim for the injury, however, the employee must notify the supervisor and the Director of Payroll and Benefits and complete a First Report of Injury Form, which must be returned immediately to the Office of Payroll and Benefits.

PART FIVE: SELECTED INSTRUCTIONAL GUIDELINES AND POLICIES

43.0 ASSIGNMENTS, EXAMINATIONS, AND GRADES

Faculty members must become familiar with the College's purpose and use instructional techniques and formulate course policies appropriate both to the purpose of the institution and to the goals of each course. The faculty member is responsible for informing students in writing of the goals and requirements of each course, the nature of course content, and the methods of evaluation to be used.

Tests and other methods of evaluation should be given frequently enough to provide a sound basis upon which both the students and instructors may evaluate their efforts. Evaluations of student progress should discern the various levels of performance. Final examinations are a required part of the instructional program in every course. The official final examination schedule must be followed unless an exception is approved by the Vice President of Instruction through the academic administrative channels. There are no exemptions from final examinations.

Grade reports are posted on the WCJC website at the end of the semester. Grades are confidential. Use of the Social Security numbers or the last four digits of Social Security numbers is not permitted. All grade reports requested by the Director of Admissions and Registration must be submitted by the designated time to expedite clerical processes. Semester grades having been reported to the Director of Admissions and Registration may not be changed without the approval of the Division Chair and then the Vice President of Instruction. A final grade may be changed only by the instructor with the approval of the Vice President of Instruction or by action of the Board of Trustees.

Any student dissatisfied with a grade or alleged ill treatment by an instructor should be referred to the instructor for explanation. If dissatisfaction persists, the student should be referred to the department head, who will provide the student with a copy of Regulation 663, Appeal of Academic Decisions. [\[Ref. Reg. 663\]](#)

In accordance with Texas Success Initiative (TSI) guidelines, WCJC will assess each undergraduate student entering the institution (unless exempted) and determine if the student is "College Ready" in reading, writing, and math. Students who fail one or more sections of the THECB approved assessment instruments (determined by WCJC to be "Not College Ready" in one or more areas), must satisfy TSI requirements by the completion of an individualized developmental education plan. More information regarding WCJC's Developmental Education Plan is available in the counseling office on each campus. Students determined to be "Not College Ready" must meet with an academic advisor prior to registering for courses.

See the current College Catalog for grading symbols and notations.

44.0 COURSE OUTLINES

All full- and part-time faculty are required to provide certain information to students during the first class day. This information includes the student syllabus, the official Administrative Master Syllabus Cover Sheet, and the Acknowledgment of Receipt of Student Syllabus.

Faculty must discuss the student syllabus the first day of class. Student syllabi may be distributed via hard-copy in class or made available electronically through Blackboard, department/faculty web page, or student email. Content required in the student syllabus is noted in the Full-Time and Part-Time Instructor Procedures Handbook posted on the Intranet.

The official cover sheet must be included with the student syllabus. A copy of the cover sheet and the Acknowledgement of Receipt of Student Syllabus for each course must be turned in to the division secretary and the department head by the end of the first week classes begin.

45.0 ATTENDANCE

Attendance in classes conducted in the traditional format should be checked daily. Students who are not physically present at the times their classes are scheduled should be recorded as absent. Instructional staff must be aware of Regulation 661, Student Attendance. [\[Ref. Reg. 661\]](#)

Instructors should not permit class “cuts” or “walks” except under unusual circumstances and with the prior approval of the Vice President of Instruction.

Individuals who are not enrolled as students, employed by the College, or invited guests of the College are not permitted to attend classes without prior approval of the Vice President of Instruction.

47.0 CATALOG

Instructors must familiarize themselves with the content of the College catalog and make recommendations to the department head for changing program curricula and course descriptions. Recommended catalog changes proceed through the division chair to the appropriate dean and the Vice President of Instruction no later than December 1 of each year.

48.0 CLASSROOMS AND EQUIPMENT

Classrooms are assigned in accordance with their suitability to course requirements, class size, and accessibility to instructors’ offices. Instructors may not change classrooms on any campus without the approval of the Director of Admissions and Registration, Division Chair, the Vice President of Instruction, and the Campus Director, if applicable.

For the College to provide the necessary custodial services, staff members are requested to file with the individual building supervisor a list of things that are neglected or need to be done. If this request is made, everything within the bounds of reason will be done to take care of the situation. However, teachers and other employees are requested to make their needs known. The custodian may not be called upon to run errands or perform tasks for individuals except in an extreme emergency.

Should adjustments in the air conditioning be needed, the needs must be reported to the Director of Facilities Management or the appropriate campus director. In no situation may windows be raised in an effort to adjust the air conditioning as this throws an extra load on the equipment and causes discomfort in other classrooms.

Energy should be conserved. Unless an instructor knows his or her classroom will be used the following period, he or she must turn the lights off when he or she leaves the room.

Audio-visual equipment records such as the model, serial number, parts information, and the location of the equipment are to be recorded by personnel of the Maintenance Department. The letters “WCJC” are marked on each piece of equipment. Instructional media must remain in the designated classroom. Equipment malfunctions should be reported to the building supervisor.

49.0 COMMENCEMENT EXERCISES

Full-time professional personnel are required on a rotating basis to participate in commencement exercises. Academic regalia may be purchased or rented through the bookstore.

50.0 CREATION OF COPYRIGHTED MATERIAL

[\[Ref.: Reg. 276\]](#)

50.1 Publishing, Copyrighting, Inventing and Patenting Materials and Objects

Employees of the WCJC District are encouraged to publish and copyright, invent and patent materials and objects of their own creation that will contribute to the advancement of knowledge. The College desires to insure that public funds and property are not used for personal gain. The author, creator, inventor is free to benefit from royalties and monies accruing from such publication or invention subject to the following conditions:

50.1.1 Using Own Time and Without College Facilities, Equipment, and Support
Materials or objects created on the employee’s own time, and without the use of College facilities, equipment, materials, or support, are the sole property of the creator.

50.1.2 On College Time Using College Facilities and Materials

Materials or objects created by employees at College expense or on College time or using College facilities or equipment are the property of the College.

The College, in return for unrestricted license to use and reproduce original work without royalty payment, shall transfer to the creator of that work full ownership or any present or subsequent copyright/patent in accordance with the following paragraph.

50.1.3 Materials or Objects Sold to Entities Outside the College

In the event that materials or objects are sold to entities outside the College, all income will go to the College until all developmental expenditures incurred by the College for that project, including stipends paid to the developer (over and above contract salary), prorated support staff salaries, supplies, and other expenses related to the creation of the materials or objects are recovered. Thereafter, all remuneration as a result of copyrighted publications or patented sale will go to the creator(s) of the materials or objects.

50.1.4 Profit from Materials Sold Exclusively to WCJC Students.

No College employee may realize a profit from materials sold exclusively to WCJC students.

50.2 Informing President and Board of Trustees of Intent to Create

Any College employee who intends to create any materials or objects developed wholly or partially using College time, equipment, materials, or facilities, and who intends to copyright, patent, or otherwise merchandise those materials or objects, must inform the Board of Trustees through the President of the College of that intent.

51.0 DESK COPIES OF TEXTBOOKS

[\[Ref.: Reg. 253\]](#)

Each instructor is entitled to a free copy of current textbooks that he or she has assigned as required reading in his or her classes. The department head, program director, or program coordinator, as appropriate, is responsible for seeing that faculty members have free copies of such books, either through having each faculty member individually pursue a complimentary copy from the publisher or by ordering desk copies for all faculty in his or her department or program.

52.0 DISCIPLINE

Instructors and staff insist upon proper student behavior at all occasions sponsored by the College. When, in the instructor's judgment, student misbehavior disturbs the learning situation or is detrimental to the interests of the College community, the instructor should tactfully admonish the offender. Should this action be ineffective, the instructor may request the student leave the classroom or activity. Then the matter should be reported to the Department Head, Division Chair, Vice President of Instruction, and the Vice President of Student Services. If the student classroom disruption is a threat to harm self or others, the instructor should immediately contact security. Then the matter should be reported to supervisors.

All documents and publications related to disciplinary actions, appeals, grievances, etc., must reference Regulations Regulation 591, Student Grievances and Complaints; Regulation 592, Student Disciplinary Action; Regulation 663, Appeal of Academic Decisions; Regulation 664, Appeal of Student Disciplinary Action; and Regulation 665, Disciplinary Hearings and must clearly distinguish in their narratives between academic and nonacademic disciplinary actions and decisions. Further, all policies, procedures, and practices of individual programs must conform with, and may not supersede, those stipulated in official College regulations. All handbook and policy statements must be reviewed against the regulations and must be revised to be compatible with the provisions of the regulations.

The authority to permanently dismiss a student from the college or from a program of the College resides with the Vice President of Student Services, the Vice President of Instruction, and the President. For good cause, faculty may dismiss a student from a class period for inappropriate or unacceptable behavior or conduct and then may make a recommendation for further action to their supervisor who notifies the Vice President of Instruction. Unless a student poses a clear and present threat to his or her own safety or to the safety or well-being of others or exhibits behavior that disrupts the educational process to such an extent that teaching and learning cannot proceed as intended in the class, the student is to be permitted to continue to attend class pending the outcome of the formal disciplinary proceedings set forth in College regulations.

Regulation 591, Student Grievances and Complaints. Provides internal procedures for handling student grievances and complaints concerning (a) discrimination or harassment based on sex, race, gender identity, age, national origin, religion, veteran status, or handicap; (b) nonacademic decisions, rules, or regulations; (c) actions, rules, or regulations not defined as pertaining to disciplinary measures or decisions; (d) management or conduct or programs; (e) allegations of misleading advertisement or promotion of programs; or (f) other actions of College employees.

Regulation 592, Student Disciplinary Action. The disciplinary procedure outlined in this regulation is not explicitly designed for application to student behavior as part of academic performance in the classroom, laboratory, or similar educational settings. Student performance in the classroom or in the performance of academic work is a matter of concern of the faculty who are responsible for determining standards of acceptable behavior in their classrooms and similar settings.

The campus libraries participate in interlibrary borrowing practice, and the faculty is welcome to take advantage of this service. Requests can be made by contacting the J.M. Hodges Library at 979/532-6509. Each interlibrary loan request must be verified and submitted with full bibliographic data. Postage for interlibrary loans is paid by the library; however, any other charges for photocopies of material must be paid by the person making the request.

93.12 On-line Services

All campus libraries have Internet access. The library staff cooperates with faculty to make this resource an effective teaching/learning tool. Orientation sessions with faculty can be arranged; class demonstrations are also possible. Persons using the Internet must sign and adhere to the WCJC Libraries Internet Policies and Guidelines.

93.13 Orientation

All campus libraries present the Libraries' general policies and procedures as part of the general student orientation. Orientation sessions designed to meet the research needs of specific subjects or assignments are highly desirable. Ample time for preparation is needed; a week is usually enough time. The librarians presenting the orientation can come to the classroom, or the students can come to the libraries for the session. The library orientation session is available through the college website at <http://www.wcjc.edu/Students/Library/Research-Help/tutorials.aspx>.

93.14 Information Guides

Information sheets about the Learning Resources program and its services are available upon request. The information is also provided through LibGuides page at <http://wcjc.libguides.com/>. Rules and regulations are published in the Student Handbook. These publications are available in the campus libraries.

93.15 Gifts and Memorials

The Learning Resources program welcomes gifts that have merit for a College collection. Persons with materials to donate to the libraries should contact a member of the library staff.

All materials presented or purchased as memorials are acknowledged to the family as well as the donor. A special bookplate appears in each gift or memorial book. The J. M. Hodges Library provides the donor with an acknowledgment of the gift but does not attach a value to the gift.

93.16 Archive Collection

The J. M. Hodges Library attempts to keep the record of WCJC history. College activities, pictures, articles, papers, etc., all play an important part of institutional history. Each faculty member is encouraged to file records such as professional activities, club sponsorships, dissertations, publications, and any other record concerned with the "official memory of the institution."

93.17 Non-print Materials Collection

Non-print materials are circulated from the J.M. Hodges Library for short-term loan. Since the collection is small and the materials are in great demand, faculty members are encouraged to schedule their use in advance and to return them as quickly as possible. Materials may be reserved by contacting the Circulation Desk Staff of the J. M. Hodges Library.

93.18 Preview of Non-print Materials

Faculty are encouraged to preview non-print materials before purchase. Previews may be requested through the J. M. Hodges Library; fees for previews are not usually paid by the library unless arrangements are made before the preview. Fees for previews ordered by an individual of a department are not paid by the WCJC Libraries. A Preview Request Form must be submitted for each title ordered; forms are available in the J. M. Hodges Library. When a preview is received, the requester is notified by campus mail; preview times and facilities should be scheduled as quickly as possible. The WCJC Libraries and Open Computer Labs are not responsible for returning preview materials that are not requested through the J. M. Hodges Library.

A Non-Print Evaluation Form must be completed for all previews and returned to the J. M. Hodges Library; purchase of materials is based on evaluation data gathered during the preview process.

Evaluation forms must be completed for all previews. Future purchase of materials is based on evaluation data gathered during the preview process.

94.0 COLLEGE WORK-STUDY PROGRAM (CWSP)94.1 Purpose of the College Work-Study Program

94.2.5 Discrimination Prohibited

Discrimination on the basis of sex, race, color, religion, age, national origin, disability, or veteran's status is prohibited.

94.3 Work-Study Job Standards

Generally, work-study jobs are at an entry level and the student is trained to do the job by the supervisor to whom he or she is assigned. The supervisor is responsible for maintaining high standards of work.

Students failing to maintain proper standards of work should be counseled in regard to proper work performance.

Students failing to maintain expected standards after adequate counseling should be referred to the Student Financial Aid Office with a recommendation for dismissal from the College Work-Study Program. Supervisors should be especially conscious of maintaining high standards of honesty and dependability.

94.4 Specific Supervisor Functions94.4.1 Develop Job Descriptions

Supervisors develop job descriptions for positions in the department.

94.4.2 Request Student Worker

Supervisors initiate requests for students to fill positions with the Student Financial Aid Office.

94.4.3 Train Employee

Supervisors should train each employee thoroughly in the duties and responsibilities of the job.

94.4.4 Verify Time Sheets

Supervisors must check time entered for accuracy and to approve time in Web Time Entry at the end of the month.

94.4.5 Develop Effective Working/Learning Conditions

Supervisors must develop effective working-learning conditions for students through the design, planning, and organization of work.

94.4.6 Monitor Workload

Supervisors should decrease the work schedule if the workload decreases. Maximum hours need not be maintained or make-up hours provided if not justified by the workload.

PART EIGHT: CURRICULAR PLANNING AND COURSE DEVELOPMENT

95.0 INTRODUCTION

The Board of Trustees of WCJC recognizes that the curriculum is appropriately of central concern to the faculty and therefore encourages all faculty members to propose the addition of courses and programs as well as the revision and deletion of existing courses and programs. The approval process for such additions and revisions includes review by the affected departments or programs, the Curriculum and Instruction Resources Committee, as well as the Offices of the Dean of Vocational and Academic Instruction, Vice President of Instruction, and the College President.

This section of the handbook is designed as a user's guide for faculty, instructional leaders, administrators, and staff who are responsible for developing and processing arts and sciences and technical-occupational credit curriculum proposals. Although most of the initiatives for curriculum change should come from faculty, the process of moving these ideas through the necessary channels to incorporate them into the curriculum requires the joint efforts of faculty, instructional leaders, administrators, and staff.

The courses that constitute the College curriculum are arranged by discipline or programs. Proposed curriculum change involves examining how each course relates to other courses in the discipline(s) and/or program(s). This curriculum revision process is designed to facilitate careful planning, deliberation, and communication, as well as to provide the format necessary for approval and implementation.

The Curriculum and Instructional Resources Committee (CIR) has a key role in this process. It is responsible for representing all faculty and division chairs by bringing their ideas to the committee and discussing the ideas of others with the committee members to gain consensus. Since the entire curriculum is of concern to all faculty and since a change in one part of the curriculum affects the rest of the curriculum, the CIR is responsible for representing all faculty and the entire curriculum.

As stated in the The Principles of Accreditation: Foundations of Quality Enhancement, published by the Southern Association for Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (2012 edition, p. 19, 28-29): "Core Requirement 2.7.2 The institution offers degree programs that embody a coherent course of study that is compatible with its stated mission and is based upon fields of study appropriate to higher education."

"Comprehensive Standard 3.4.1 The institution demonstrates that each educational program for which academic credit is awarded is approved by the faculty and the administration. 3.4.10. The institution places primary responsibility for the content, quality, and effectiveness of the curriculum with its faculty."

96.0 CURRICULUM DESIGN: OCCUPATIONAL PROGRAM ADVISORY COMMITTEES

When a new technical/occupational curriculum is to be considered, an advisory committee consisting of professionals or specialists in the field is formed to determine the feasibility of offering the curriculum and to assist in planning before it is developed for recommendation to the Board of Trustees. Each occupational program maintains a standing advisory committee that meets as necessary, but no less than once each year to advise the college about the program and to review curriculum proposals and capital equipment requests.

The effectiveness of the curriculum planning and revision process depends on work provided by faculty through their departmental review of curriculum.

97.0 CURRICULUM REVIEWS

At least once every three years, normally in the fall semester, the discipline completes an in-depth evaluation of its curriculum as part of the Program Management Plan (PMP). Program Management Plans look at many variables within the discipline/program/department. Program Management Plans are part of the overall institutional effectiveness plan for the college; data from these plans are essential in reviewing relevancy and currency of curriculum. The data compiled for the PMP Reports should be used in assisting in this evaluation of curriculum.

98.0 RESPONSIBILITIES OF DEPARTMENTAL (PROGRAM) FACULTY

Departmental faculty are responsible for determining content, prerequisites, methods of instruction, selection of textbooks, and methods of evaluation for the various courses taught within the discipline.

If any evaluation (PMP) reveals that the curriculum needs restructuring or modification, the faculty within the discipline, supervised by the department head, revises the curriculum accordingly. The department head, in conjunction with the division chair, reviews the proposed changes for:

- accuracy
- content (substance) and format
- fit into overall curriculum and program objectives
- compliance with Southern Association for Colleges and Schools Commission on Colleges (SACSCOC) and Texas Higher Education Coordinating Board guidelines
- compliance with college general-education and degree requirements, where appropriate

The division chair presents the revised curriculum to the CIR for review and recommendation to the Vice President of Instruction.

PART NINE: GUIDELINES FOR EMERGENCIES

Detailed guidelines on how to handle specific emergencies within the College can be found in the Disaster Preparedness Manual in Appendix XII or in the Emergency Procedures Manual in Appendix XI. Full-time and part-time employees are expected to be familiar with the Disaster Preparedness Manual. All employees must complete the Disaster Preparedness Tutorial and submit the acknowledgement form to the Human Resources Department for documentation in their personnel file.
